

Professor Wee Joo Chng

Professor Wee Joo Chng is the Director of the National University Cancer Institute of Singapore (NCIS) as well as the Group Director of the Research Office at the National University Health System, Singapore (NUHS). He is also the Deputy Director and a Senior Principal Investigator at the Cancer Science Institute (CSI), Singapore, National University of Singapore (NUS). Professor Chng is also a Professor of Medicine, the Provost's Chair and the Vice-Dean (Research) at the Yong Loo Lin School of Medicine at NUS.

Professor Chng graduated from the University of Leeds Medical School in the United Kingdom. He has a PhD from National University of Singapore. He has fellowships from the Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh; Academy of Medicine, Singapore; and Royal College of Pathologist, UK. His research interests focus around multiple myeloma, and the biology and therapeutics of haematologic malignancies. He is a member of many international professional committees, such as American Society of Haematology Scientific Committee on Plasma Cell Neoplasia, the International Myeloma Working Group and the Asian Myeloma Network.

Professor Chng is in the peer review committee of journals such as Blood, leukemia, Cancer Research, and Nature Genetics. He is also involved in a number of Grant Review Committees, Conference Organising Committee, Advisory Boards and Steering Committees of Global Clinical Trials. He has authored more than 200 publications in many reputed journals, such as The New England Journal of Medicine, Cancer Cell, Blood, Leukemia, Nature Medicine, and Cancer Research. Prof Chng has also authored several book chapters, actively participated in clinical trials and has delivered talks in many national and international conferences. He has won multiple awards for his research both locally and internationally including the National Medical Excellence Outstanding Clinician Scientist Award, the National Medical Research Council Senior Translational Research (STaR) Award, The National University of Singapore Young Researcher Award, and the Celgene Future Leaders in Haematology Award.